She has submitted written declarations to U.S. federal courts, prepared economic expert reports, and presented to the U.S. Department of Justice and Federal Trade Commission in connection with antitrust investigations and merger review. Dr. Pang was the first economic expert to testify in front of the Hong Kong Competition Tribunal.

Dr. Pang has spoken extensively on the economic aspects of antitrust laws at a number of competition conferences in Asia, and delivered presentations and seminars to law firms, the Hong Kong Bar Association, the Hong Kong Competition Commission, numerous professional and trade associations, corporations, and the University of Hong Kong. She was appointed by the HKCC as a Non-Governmental Advisor from 2018 to 2020. Prior to joining Deacons, Dr. Pang was a Principal at the Washington, D.C. office of the global economic consulting firm Charles River Associates. She also held the role of an in-house economist at the antitrust department of Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher and Flom based in New York City, and was on the faculty at Cornell University's Johnson Graduate School of Management.

Alexander Lee, Counsel, Slaughter & May

Alexander is a Counsel in the Slaughter and May Competition Practice in Asia. He advises on all aspects of competition law and foreign direct investment in the Asia-Pacific region, particularly for digital and tech clients in recent years.

Alexander has been recognised as a "Rising Star" by Legal 500 Asia Pacific since 2022 for Antitrust and Competition Hong Kong. He has extensive experience in multi-jurisdictional matters, often taking the lead in merger control and foreign investment aspects of Asia-Pacific and global transactions. He is also deeply experienced in antitrust investigations. In Hong Kong, he has been advising international and local clients in a wide range of highly contested antitrust investigations, including cases involving the First and Second Conduct Rules, and in the first litigated enforcement case.

Before joining Slaughter and May, Alexander served as Legal Counsel, Secretary to the Enforcement Committee and Special Advisor to the CEO in the Hong Kong Competition Commission. He was previously an associate in a global competition practice at a Magic Circle firm in Hong Kong, and has a background in litigation.
